

Chianti Rufina — Sangiovese

COUNTRY: Italy
 REGION: Tuscany
 SOIL: Clay, sand and volcanic soil

- Alcohol content: 14%
- Brix at harvest: 25.2°

Belonging to the Conti Spalletti family for over 5 generations, the Colognole estate is regarded as one of the best producers in the Chianti Rufina zone.

Background:

The Estate vineyards cover 27 hectares and are bordered by the Apennine mountain chain.

Over the last ten years, vineyards have been replanted according to scientific criteria (clone selections, careful choice of the rootstock, physicalchemical preparation of soil) and have been positioned for optimum exposure to the sun.

Tasting notes:

Nose of wild berry, botanical herb, and a hint of exotic spice. Palate is replete with flavors of tart cherry and pomegranate underpinned by notes of salted chocolate. Elegant structure, polished tannins.

Grape variety

100% Sangiovese.

Vinification

The result of the reworking of the vineyards has been impressive yielding wines of exceptional depth and complexity that rival the best wines from Classico while retaining the unique aromas and ageing capability that Rufina has. Colognole's wines have the capacity to age far beyond the best wines of Classico at a better value.
